PROGRAM OVERVIEW

According to a recent study by McKinsey, organizations that implement effective sustainable procurement practices achieve 15% higher profitability and 30% better risk management outcomes compared to industry peers. However, the complexity of drafting and negotiating these specialized contracts remains a significant challenge, with 76% of procurement professionals reporting they lack confidence in their ability to effectively integrate sustainability requirements into binding agreements.

This certified program is designed to provide you with comprehensive knowledge and essential skills for successfully drafting and negotiating sustainable procurement contracts. Throughout the program, you will explore core topics such as sustainability clause development, performance metrics standardization, regulatory compliance across jurisdictions, and effective stakeholder alignment strategies. This program ensures you gain not only theoretical insights but also practical tools to develop contracts that drive environmental and social impact while maintaining commercial viability.

Through detailed sessions, you will learn how to identify, draft, and structure key ESG clauses including environmental, social, and governance commitments while ensuring measurability, enforceability, and alignment with recognized standards. Real-world case studies will illustrate the consequences of weak ESG contract design and highlight best practices.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Furthermore, you will also develop advanced skills in negotiating ESG terms with suppliers, overcoming objections, and achieving internal alignment across procurement, legal, compliance, and sustainability teams. Additionally, you will delve into supply chain due diligence, flow-down obligations, ESG performance monitoring, and safeguards against greenwashing. By the end of the program, you will possess the knowledge, tools, and confidence to embed sustainability into procurement agreements that deliver measurable impact while safeguarding your organization from legal, financial, and reputational risks.

Upon successful completion of the program, you will attain the Certification in Sustainable Procurement Contracts Management. This certification will validate your ability to design, negotiate, and enforce ESG procurement agreements that deliver measurable sustainability outcomes while mitigating legal and reputational risks. This globally recognized certification will not only enhance your professional credibility, but it will also demonstrate your ability to drive sustainable outcomes.
